Projects in Development:

Courts In COVID: Project with George Appleseed looking at the response of courts in GA to the COVID pandemic. Courts are being surveyed about their responses to both public health crises in their counties and to the changing and sometimes conflicting orders on holding hearings and conducting cases from both the State and Federal levels. (with Laruen Sudeall (College of Law), Kara Tsukerman* and Kamil Williams*, Tabitha Ingle*, and George Usmanov*).

Homelessness Intervention Pilot Program (H.I.P.P). Project with Clayton County Magistrate Court and School District along with Atlanta Legal Aid, United Way, Georgia Appleseed, Hearts to Nourish Hope, and other local NGO's to create pilot projects to intervene in eviction cases (both "upstream" and "downstream") from the court system in Clayton County. (with Laruen Sudeall (College of Law), Kamil Williams* and Kara Tsukerman*).

Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) Collaboratory. Developing a Collaboratory agreement between the Sociology Department and SPLC to conduct joint research into key issues in the South. Pilot project #1 reviewed federal and state discipline data in Alabama and other southeastern states to identify differences between states that have education due process policies and states that don't (Conducted with graduate students in 9010; Spring 2021. Pilot project #2 is a comparative analysis of disciplinary activities in the South by race and disability status. (with Michael Tafelski (SPLC), and Kam Williams*).
